

ABSTRACT

In this thesis, the Adomian Decomposition Method is used to find solutions of Korteweg-de Vries equation, KdV- type of equations and other nonlinear hyperbolic partial differential equations. The analytic solutions of these equations is calculated in series form with easily computable components. The efficiency and accuracy of the method is examined by comparing the approximate solutions to the known exact solutions.