

Abstratct

In this Research, Zinc Oxide Nanorods have been prepared on Anodic Aluminum Oxide template by using chemical bath deposition method. After the preparation of template and Zinc Oxide Nanorods both will be characterized by scanning electron microscope which tells us about the geometry and poresize of the prepared template and also about the diameter of the rods.