

Abstract

Thirty five samples of goat brain prepared from five skulls of goat and these were analyzed by instrumental neutron activation analysis technique. The results showed that the concentration of iron showed gradual decreases from meninges, midbrain, thalamus, medulla oblongata, cerebrum and pons respectively, while the zinc concentration was almost the same in every part of brain. The copper was not found in any part of brain.