

Abstract

This thesis is based on the research about acid throwing on females. In Pakistan usually women are victimized of acid attacks. In this research it has been tried to find out the motivations and causes which create such kind of violence in society. This research also explains the effects of acid throwing on lives of females. The legislation about acid throwing and its implementation has also been checked in this research. The role of stake holders and rehabilitation of victims of acid throwing has been discussed. Some recommendations and suggestions are also given in the end of the thesis.