

Abstract

As everybody knows that Pakistan may be a numerous multi-lingual, multi-ethnic society wherever folks of varied religions and cultures live together; little question Islam dominates this land. Numerous ethnic communities and numerous cultures embrace Punjabis, Pathans, Balochis, Saraikis, Sindhis, Muhajirs, Kashmiris, Hazaras etc. and on the identical grounds besides Islam, the followers of Hindu, Sikh, Christianity and different religions are living in Pakistan. once Pakistan came into being, its founder Muhammad Ali statesman assured in his addresses that each one subjects as well as minorities are given full protection and their rights would be preserved. However sadly, Pakistan has drifted far from its leader's path way back and such ugly incidents have occurred that barrel the religion of minorities during this land. Minorities constitute approximately five percent of this country and play a vital role in different sectors but, they have never been provided their just share.

The research shows that religious minorities are under clouds. Misuse of blasphemy laws, forced conversion, target killing, mob attacks and biased curriculum are those factors which directly or indirectly decline religious freedom in our country. People of minority groups who are living in district of Lahore have insecurities just because of that; our constitution has some contradictory clauses and the weak implications of laws. Hence, results show that increase in discrimination is associated with decrease in religious freedom.